9. IFORS News:

The IFORS News (<http://ifors.org/web/newsletter/>) has been on-line since 2007. It has been read by the OR community all over the world. We have introduced a lot of new sections, which now include the Book Review, Tutorial, OR Impact (stories of successful implementations), OR in Development, OR Society in Focus. However, we have to admit that our coverage had been very limited in terms of the happenings within the member OR Societies. To address this issue, we have embarked on a program of appointing IFORS News correspondents from all the societies.

Name of IFORS News Correspondent:

Email:

As the IFORS News is written in English, please select the appropriate individual who would have the necessary English writing skills. He/she is expected to cover news from the Society, and may from time to time submit feature articles solicited from the local community. They are also expected to recommend articles (not necessarily from local sources) for reprinting in the IFORS News.

The IFORS News is sent to all Secretaries and Representatives. Please give name and e-mail address of anyone else who should receive this publication e.g., other officers, the editor of your Bulletin/Newsletter.

10. If you have a society newsletter/ bulletin or anything similar that written in English, please fill up:

Name of Publication: _____

URL, if published online: _____

Please include in your mailing list the following: news@ifors.org and secretary@ifors.org so that your news may be shared with the rest of the OR World.
